Executive Message

Our members. Our strength
A message from Paul A. Guindon - President

There is no question that collectively, members of CSIS - Ottawa Chapter offer a truly remarkable mix of security-focused expertise and experience - whether we are interested in training, equipping, supporting, advising or actively safeguarding our fellow citizens.

That's why our regular meetings are so valuable, in that they shine the spotlight on important security issues of the day. They provide opportunities for stimulating discussions. They educate us about the latest practical tools, efficient processes and technological advances available to us. They also strengthen our ability to pool our resources and keep stride with the urgent needs and rising expectations of an already competitive, complex and rapidly changing security industry.

On that note, one very recent development comes to mind that impacts the vast majority of our members. Ontario's private security industry entered a new era when legislation known as the Private Security and Investigative Services Act came into force on August 23, 2007. The new law makes training and licensing mandatory for all personnel in Ontario's security industry - no small feat considering there are tens of thousands who are currently unlicensed, with tens of thousands more requiring various upgrades if they are to meet the new standards.

Not only did CSIS - Ottawa Chapter draw attention to this new piece of legislation in previous meetings, but some of our members will be on hand to provide further insight and updates in the months to come. Using this same proactive and interactive approach, we intend to feature a wide range of other topics that relate to or directly influence our profession.

As I have previously expressed, my vision is to make CSIS the security society of choice in our community. In the months to come, we will accomplish this by featuring guest speakers whose presentations will continue to challenge and inspire us to learn more. We will encourage greater participation from existing members, with an additional aim to attract new members from the security industry, police services and all levels of government.

If we haven't had a chance to exchange ideas in person yet, I would encourage you to approach me at the next meeting. For those of you I already have the pleasure of knowing, I look forward to seeing you again at the next meeting!

Paul A. Guindon

Annual CSIS Inc National Conference & Annual General Meeting 2007

DATES: Wednesday October 17 and Thursday October 18, 2007.

PLACE: The Toronto Congress Centre.....650 Dixon Road Toronto ON

This year the Society has again partnered with The Canadian Security Association (CANASA) to bring you an exciting and informative Conference. This is an excellent opportunity for members to affordably attend our annual conference, to take advantage of viewing the latest security technology from over 200 exhibitors, and to attend educational sessions being held by the other participating security associations such as ASIS, CANASA, RCC, TOA and CEDIA.

CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

“Workplace Safety in Security”

In the Canadian workplace, safety and security have always been closely related to each other and the trend toward convergence of services has only reinforced these connections. For decades we have understood the important role that our employees play in keeping each other safe in their workplaces. It has been more recently however, that we come to reflect more fully on the questions of whether or not our workplace is a safe place for our employees to work. Our Conference this year will focus on and explore the latest thinking that ensures our workplaces are as safe as possible, both for the protected and the protectors.

WE WOULD LIKE TO THANK OUR SPONSORS:

CONFERENCE AGENDA

Wednesday October 17, 2006

Session #1 9:00AM-10:00AM Pinsent Room 4

“The Growing Influence of Occupational Health & Safety Law on the Private Security Business in Canada”

This presentation will examine how recent developments in occupational health and safety law across Canada and the increased attention being paid to the private security sector by provincial Occupational and Health and Safety regulators are having and will continue to have a significant impact on how Canadian security employers need to manage their operations.

Presented by: Brian Robertson, Right Response Security Training and Consulting

10:00AM- 1130AM Break (Trade Show opens 10am)

Session #2 11:30AM-12:30PM Pinsent Room 4

“The Security Guard and the Ontario Occupational Health and Safety Act”

This session will focus on the Ontario Occupational Health and Safety Act and how it relates and applies to the role of Security Guard and includes such topics as: critical injuries, refusal of work, the role of the Joint Health and Safety Committee, the involvement of security in Joint Health and Safety Committees, workplace inspections and how a certified representative may assist security in their role when reporting safety violations.

Presented by: Bill Urie, CET, CRSP, Consultant, Education Safety Association of Ontario

12:30AM-1PM- Exhibits

Session #3 1:00PM-2:00PM Pinsent Room 4

“1 Stop Service from Security”- Case Study

Canada’s Wonderland is the largest amusement park in Ontario. This presentation will provide a comparative case study of the convergence of responsibilities that descend upon their security operations in “Industrial Security” and “Attractions” settings. These functions will be compared and will identify the vital role played by Security as the department assumes safety and information protection responsibilities to add to their traditional security duties, all of which will change depending upon the time of day, month and year.

Presented by: Jim Maddin, Security Manager, Canada’s Wonderland

2:00PM-3:30PM- Break

Session #4 3:30PM- 4:30PM Pinsent Room 4

“Protecting Your Organization from Targeted Violence”

There are many hidden benefits to a safe working environment. The prevalence of violence in the work environment currently forces many managers to address these instances without any formal background training. Prevention is the ultimate goal but violence response plans must be developed. This presentation will provide a comprehensive look at the targeted violence in the workplace and beyond in a variety of forms.

Presented by: Peter Martin, Chief Operating Officer, AFI International Group

4:30PM-5:30PM-Trade Show (closes 5:30pm)

Thursday October 18, 2006

The member’s lunch and Annual General Meeting will take place in the Berton Room #1.

Session #5 9:00AM-10:00AM Pinsent Room 4

“Security Industry Sector Council”

It is very clear that Private Security in Canada is a very large force that has experienced tremendous growth and by all indicators will continue to expand and diversify. Still, for the most part, the industry remains too fragmented and is often dogged by the existence of a prevailing attitude that views Private Security as an industry that has not developed the overall competencies that it requires. This session will look at an overview of the Canadian Security Sector with a focus towards understanding the need to organize a national security alliance through the formation of Canadian Security Sector Council. The need for better solutions through consultation with all stakeholders and the benefits of a sector council through industry cohesion, consistent standards, common training, industry safety and improved governance will be discussed.

Presented by: Graham Osprey, G.P. Osprey and Associates and Past President CSIS Inc

10:00AM-10:15am Break (Trade Show opens 10:00am)

Session #6 10:15AM- 11:15AM Pinsent Room 4

“Use of Force Training-Needs and Deliverables”

As new government regulations in Ontario regarding security will focus on the credentials of the Specialized Trainer, this session will identify the current trends by employers in various areas of use of force training and provide you the answers you need to determine what use of force training your employees need and how to deliver it to them. Presented by: Steve Summerville, President, Response Ability Security Awareness and Training

11:15AM-11:30AM-Break

Session # 7 11:30AM-12:30PM Pinsent Room 4

Having this newsletter available on the web is a great tool for communication both within our chapter and with others. Please take advantage of this tool by sending pertinent information to the editor for inclusion. If you have something for all to read, please take the time to forward it off to me. If you wish to be anonymous when you submit articles etc for insertion, your name can be excluded. As well, take your camera along to events and record them so we can get some pictures of events on our web site and in our newsletter. I'd also like to receive some good photos (digital) of members and have a mini BIO on them. I challenge each member to take a moment and submit an article about security and send me for possible insertion in the next newsletter.

Thank You

Dennis Burton - Newsletter Editor
